

The First World War veteran who lost a leg was Frank Middleton, back row third from left. As well as being a gardener at Sulgrave Manor he was able to play his part in the village cricket team in the 1920s. He had a “runner” when batting. The wonderful thing about village cricket at that time was that the aged and infirm were able to participate! Dress optional.