A very short letter this month as there is an overwhelming issue that needs to be resolved. With some critical members of the shop volunteer brigade leaving the village within the next few months and some members of the shop management committee planning to stand down this year, after many years of service, the shop may soon be facing an existential crisis.

The chairman of the Shop Management Committee, Neil Johnston, will be explaining the situation at the next Parish Council meeting to be held in Sulgrave Village Church Hall on Thursday 5th May at 7.30 pm. If you have any interest in the future of the Village Shop and Post Office – please make an effort to attend.
